Terry Goddard to Open Two Tucson Satellite Offices

(Phoenix, Ariz. – Feb. 9, 2006) Attorney General Terry Goddard will open the newest satellite offices in Tucson on Friday, Feb. 10. The first opening will be at the Pima Council on Aging and the second at the Sam Lena Library in South Tucson.

Goddard will visit the offices Friday to greet volunteers and local elected officials. He will open the Pima Council on Aging satellite office at 2 p.m. and the Sam Lena Library satellite office at 3:30 p.m. Both events are open to the media.

Counting these two, the Attorney General's Office has 19 satellite offices throughout Arizona to provide residents with convenient locations they can visit to find consumer information or file fraud or civil rights complaints. The satellite offices are staffed with volunteers trained to assist individuals with filing complaints or referrals for assistance. The volunteers are also trained to make educational presentations for community groups.

"These satellite offices are an important part of our effort to provide Arizona residents with places people can visit without having to come to the Attorney General's Office," Goddard said. "Complaints turned in at these offices are forwarded to the Attorney General's Consumer and Civil Rights staff for further review and action."

The Pima Council on Aging satellite office is located at 8467 E. Broadway Blvd. in Tucson. The Sam Lena Library is located at 1607 S. Sixth Avenue in South Tucson. For more information about these or other satellite offices, please call 1.866.358.6661 or visit the Attorney General's Web site at www.azag.gov.
